Vision

A close-up photograph of numerous colorful marbles. The marbles are made of clear glass and feature various patterns and colors, including blue, green, yellow, red, and white. They are arranged in a cluster, with some in sharp focus and others blurred in the background. The lighting is bright, highlighting the glossy surfaces and the intricate patterns within the glass.

Marbled Memories

He wants us to remember His great accomplishments in the past so we will trust Him for the challenges that lie ahead.

by Daniel R. Lockwood, President

Office Mementos

My office is home to many mementos that evoke memories of my work at Multnomah. But my favorite is a large cylindrical glass jar that sits on a nearby credenza. Covered with a glass lid, it is partially filled with scores of multi-colored marbles of various sizes. The jar is a footnote to a biblical message from Joshua four that I delivered in 2000 for our weekly family chapel. Joshua four is the chapter on Israel's "memorial stones."

"God instructed Israel to erect two stone monuments," I reminded the students. "He wants us to remember His great accomplishments in the past so we will trust Him for the challenges that lie ahead."

Then I threw down the gauntlet. "What miracle are you praying that God will perform for you in the coming days, months, or years?" I asked them. "I invite you to take one or more of these marbles today as a reminder to pray. I will place this jar in the prayer chapel this afternoon, and over the next weeks and months, when God answers your prayer, just replace your marble in the jar."

Many took a marble that day. Now, eight years later, most have been returned, and they are a daily, translucent reminder to me of God's faithful provision.

Recalling God's Provision

Now, let me recount some of the events, accomplishments, and challenges of the year just passed. As I do so, imagine that I'm holding a handful of those variegated, colorful glass marbles, dropping them one by one back into the jar as I recollect prayers answered, dreams realized, and challenges met.

The Multnomah University name change.

When we effected this name change on July 1, 2008, most alumni (especially missionaries) hailed this move as long overdue. Now we must explore what this will mean for us institutionally as we continue to grow, particularly in the development of non-seminary masters programs.

Multnomah Bible College. Complementing our new teacher education program under Dr. Debi Miller's direction, the Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT) program launched last January. It gained momentum this fall, and middle school and high school credentials were approved for this program last spring.

Our Degree Completion Program (DCP) now has about sixty students enrolled in six cohorts. Under director Holley Clough, DCP anticipates a full complement of eight cohorts by the end of this coming spring, touching students we've rarely reached before.

The MA in TESOL (Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages) was launched this fall under Prof. Kristen Hubert's leadership, complementing our TESOL Certificate program. An on-campus ESL program for the Montavilla community, providing hands-on training for our interns while serving our otherwise unreached neighbors, began last spring.

Professor Kristen Hubert leads students in the Master of Arts in TESOL program.

An important transition: Dr. Tim Aldrich retired after thirty-three years of service. His replacement, Dr. Joseph Zichterman, began teaching Bible and theology this fall.

Multnomah Biblical Seminary. The 2008 year began with the consolidation talks between Multnomah and Western Seminary officially wrapping up with no institutional change. I believe much self-awareness came from these talks, including plans for collaboration between our respective Th.M programs.

The Th.M program marked a milestone when our first graduate, Liz Myers, earned her degree in December. Multnomah»connect, our online program directed by Prof. Chuck Schreiner, began its second year in September with four course offerings.

...imagine that I'm holding a handful of those variegated, colorful glass marbles, dropping them one by one back into the jar as I recollect prayers answered, dreams realized, and challenges met.

We devoted much of the summer and fall developing three seminary programs that involve distributed learning formats: the MAPS, the M.Div., and a new D. Min. These "in ministry" programs will utilize a combination of online, on-campus, and in-residence intensive courses to serve a growing number of seminarians who find uprooting to the Portland campus for two or three years very difficult. We plan to implement these blended programs over the next five years, secured by a $500,000 grant from the Kern Family Foundation.

Dr. Robert Redman brings rich administrative and collaborative experience to the seminary.

Another important transition: Dr. Don Brake announced his retirement as the dean of the seminary. He faithfully served Multnomah for twenty-two years (1978-1990 and 1998-2008). Dr. Robert Redman, formerly dean of A. J. Tozer Seminary of Simpson University, was chosen this fall as the new seminary dean. Bringing rich administrative experience and collaborative skills, Dr. Redman began on January 2, 2009.

Enrollment and Economic Challenges.

While our new programs show promise, our traditional college enrollment slipped significantly in the spring and again last fall. Seminary enrollments were strong in the spring but showed some fall erosion. Since tuition revenues are essential to our fiscal well-being, we took proactive measures at the beginning of both semesters to curb expenses. Last spring, a board-appointed task force investigated enrollment and retention trends. One outcome was to restructure the recruitment, admissions, and financial aid departments into a new “Enrollment Management” department under Gina Berquist’s oversight. We anticipate improved office efficiency, increased staff cross-training, and heightened student service.

In a very difficult economic environment, we strive to be good stewards motivated by quoted in The Wall Street Journal, we were primary sponsors of the Luis Palau Portland CityFest, and ads bearing our name and student pictures are travelling Portland’s Tri-Met busses. Finally, two faculty publications (Metzger’s, Consuming Jesus, and Brake’s A Visual History of the English Bible) were positively reviewed in national publications.

Campus and Facilities. The Memorial Dorm remodel was completed last summer. This was the conclusion of a three year process that remodeled lounges and apartments, reconfigured some rooms into suites, renovated the electrical and plumbing architecture of the rooms, and replaced outdated furniture.

God’s gracious provision. Humanly speaking, next year holds little hope for relief, and we covet your prayers as we guide Multnomah through turbulent economic times.

Multnomah’s Public Profile. This year was unprecedented in local and national publicity. Multnomah University was ranked sixth (out of 39 Northwest schools) in the Seattle Metropolitan Magazine, Dr. Paul Metzger was

The Travis-Lovitt lounge was renamed the Pamela Reeve Seminary Community Lounge on February 1, 2008, honoring Dr. Reeve for her years of faithful service to Multnomah.

Multnomah University at Reno-Tahoe. After nine years of planning, the Reno campus of Meadows Bible Institute (MBI) became part of Multnomah on June 30, 2008. A facility, mineral royalties, and MBI's reputation for quality biblical education were among the assets Multnomah received. Jason Daniels, our administrative director in Reno, works with the Portland campus to make this teaching site a reality. While we continue to offer adult education courses that are fully transferrable to Multnomah, we have plans for more. With State of Nevada licensure and NWCCU approval, we anticipate offering accredited college courses by fall 2009. Adding the seminary's distributed programs will not be far behind.

Collecting Future Memories

For years I received colorful marbles in unexpected and delightful ways—most memorably at spring commencements. As graduating students cross the stage to receive their diplomas, their last stop is to shake hands with the president. I have received a dozen marbles on those occasions, slipped to me during the handshake. Each is a silent but potent testimony that God indeed answers prayer, even four or five years later.

But in all that happened last year, God's gracious provision shines though it all, like the iridescent, multi-colored marbles quietly resting in a handsome jar on the president's credenza.

We are thankful to the Lord for each of you who have contributed to this ministry, and enabled us to carry on the work that the Lord has given Multnomah.

Financial Report

by Paul Griffin, Senior Vice President of Finance and Administration

Fiscal Year 2008

Multnomah completed the year with a balanced budget. The unrestricted operating fund ended the year with an increase in net assets of $486,305. Total donations were $5,473,473, an increase from the prior year. A significant donation involved the gifting of assets from a Bible Institute in Reno, Nevada, to Multnomah at the end of the fiscal year.

PICTURING FINANCIAL HEALTH

The condensed activities statement shows the sources of our revenues by category, and where these funds were spent. Fundraising expenses comprised 5% of our total expenditures, with the remaining 95% going directly to education programs and support.

Another way of picturing our financial health is the Statement of Financial Position, which shows the assets, liabilities, and net assets of Multnomah. Total net assets grew by $1,374,969 during the fiscal year, to a balance of $27,268,387. A portion of these net assets, called permanently restricted net assets, may never be spent and comprise the endowment for Multnomah. Another portion of net assets are called temporarily restricted, which are set aside for donor-specified activities, programs, or projects. These assets are expended for the donor-directed purpose. Finally, the unrestricted net asset balance represents those assets that are not restricted by our donors. A portion of the unrestricted net asset balance is set aside by the Board of Trustees for future projects. The net asset balance of each of these funds is shown in the Statement of Financial Position.

CHALLENGES AHEAD, FAITH IN GOD

The current year will present new challenges to Multnomah, and it is not likely that we will experience the same financial growth as the year presented here. Regardless of the fiscal challenges involved in bringing the Word of God to our students in these troubled economic times, we are committed to the sacred trust of being the best stewards possible of the donations the Lord has provided through you, our faithful donors.

Tuition Need Gap

Cost to Educate One Student $18,246

Tuition and Fees $13,480

Student Aid Gap $4,766

Multnomah strives to keep the cost of education affordable for each student, providing training at considerably less than cost. This is made possible by the generosity of many friends whose contributions supplement the income received from student tuition and fees.

BIBLE COLLEGE

Hometown: Beaverton, OR

Degree seeking: Bible/Theology and TESOL (Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages)

Favorite Course/Faculty Member: Intro to Counseling with Jim Velez. This has been the most practical class I've ever taken and I know I will (and have already) use the things I've learned in working with hurting people.

Why Multnomah: I wanted my education to be based on the truth of the Bible and to gain skills and knowledge I can pass on to others. I have learned more than just knowledge; I have learned wisdom.

Ministry involvement: I've run the children's program at a tiny Sudanese Church, and now I tutor 4 girls from Kenya I met through the church.

Plans after Multnomah: I want to work overseas with orphans and help rescue women trapped in the horrors of the sex trade.

Favorite Thing about Multnomah: The people. I have made friends, met with professors, and interacted with employees who have encouraged me and pointed me toward Christ...people who will always be a part of my life.

Personal Factoid: I can't sleep with doors open, I love tofu and eat it almost every day - and someday I dream of riding an ostrich.

BIBLICAL SEMINARY

Hometown: Hastings, New Zealand

Degree seeking: M.Div., Th.M.

Favorite Course/Faculty Member:

- Inductive Bible Study Methods
- Dr. Calvin Blom.

Why Multnomah:

- God's very clear leading
- Ease of integrating my family into Portland, as opposed to L.A. or Dallas
- A Church home at SW Bible Church
- Available M.Div. specializations
- International student application process was very impressive, and the response to questions was timely.

Ministry involvement: I hope to be involved in preaching and teaching. Currently, I help lead a home group, and am interested in the Biblical counseling ministry at SWBC.

Plans after Multnomah: To return to Australia or NZ and enter into the pastorate in an existing church or with a church plant.

Favorite Thing about Multnomah:

Being able to have my wife (Julie) join me in class through the spouse enrichment program!
